Dear Dr. Ioan Valentin Petrescu-Mag

Chief Editor of the AACL Bioflux

I expect, this mail does not disturb your busy activities.

In this opportunity, I am sending our manuscript entitle Swimming speed and heartbeat activity of jack mackerel Trachurus japonicus, through ECG monitoring in step-up swimming exercise and the submission letter in attachment file with this mail.

We expect that our text is sufficient and feasible, so that it can be published on AACL Bioflux

Thank you very much for your attention and cooperation.

Best regards

Hope, this mail does not distrub your busy activities.

In this moment, I have a question i.e. what is different between Bioflux SRL and Bioflux AACL?

By the way, our manuscript entitle "Swimming speed and hearbeat activity of Jack Mackerel Trachurus japonicus, through ECG monitoring in step-up swimming exercise" wish to publish on Bioflux AACL.

I wish to publish on the journal, which indexed by scopus with Q3.

Please give me your states about this.

Thank you very much for cooperation.

Reviewing your manuscript

From: muntean.gc@gmail.com

To: aan_fish@yahoo.com

Date: Monday, February 24, 2020, 3:20 AM PST

Dear Dr. Nofrizal,

The most important part in the publishing process is the reviewing of your article. This is a peer-reviewed journal and all articles need to be reviewed by two independent reviewers. A reviewer should be a senior scientist in the field of your article. We can do this two ways: you recommend me two reviewers or I search for two reviewers.

I will send official invitations to the reviewers and if they don't accept we will search for others.

Feel free to ask me if you have any questions.

Dear Dr. Nofrizal,

At the moment Prof. Dr. Muchlisin Z. A has not sent me back the review for your paper.
And Dr. Agung Dharma Syakti did not respond to my invitation to be a reviewer at all, even though I contacted him on three different e-mails.
Maybe it would be good to recommend me some more reviewers.

Dear Dr. Nofrizal,

Early this morning, Prof. Dr. Muchlisin has e-mailed back to me his complete review. I attach it to you so you can start making the necessary modifications he required. Please make the modifications in the document I sent to you.

Regarding Dr. Agung Dharma Syakti, I suggest that you try to contact him again, before we search for another reviewer. I am very confident that he will provide a review and that would get us close to publishing your article.

Dear Dr. Nofrizal,

I edited the english in your article and made some formatting modifications.

Also, regarding the information in your manuscript, I highlighted with red and made comments on some troublesome information that needs to be set straight by you. Please follow my instructions and provide me with the necessary information.

Check the name, e-mail and affiliation of every author, to make sure that they are correct, because I can not check this aspect. At the end of the paper, where is the information about authors and how to cite the article I see that the e-mail of Farhan Rahmadni is missing and also the name and affiliation of Yenni Oktavia is missing.

All the modifications you make, please make them in the document I sent you now.

Please contact me if you have any questions and I wait for the rectified manuscript from you.

Dear Dr. Nofrizal,

I went through your last modifications and made the necessary changes. I still have a problem with one piece of information from your manuscript and I drew up a comment to it. Please help me clarify it.

Also, I need you to check your references and to make sure that you have written them correctly and please highlight me any modifications, if they are necessary.

At the end of the article I need to add a "How to cite" sentence that show how to properly cite your article. Please write it to me, because I am not sure which is the first name of all your authors and I do not want to make a mistake. Do it please after the following model and write it to me in your next reply.

Model how to cite: "Xin L. H., Adzis K. A. A., Hyde J., Cob Z. C., 2016 Growth performance of Acropora formosa in natural reefs and coral nurseries for reef restoration."

Again, double check if the names of your authors are correct.

Good morning and happy greeting from Indonesia.

I have been modified and rectified some problems in our manuscript, which follow your comment.

Hope , my modification on the manuscript can give significant quality improve of the manuscript.

By the way, I have been rectified the reference of the manuscript too.

For example an article as follow : Effect of temperature on the swimming endurance and post-exercise recovery of jack mackerel Trachurus japonicus as determined by ECG monitoring

To: aan_fish@yahoo.com

Date: Thursday, April 16, 2020, 4:51 AM PDT

Dear Dr. Nofrizal,

Thank you for making the required modifications in the text of the manuscript.

Regarding the "How to cite:" part, I asked you to write the names of the authors and the title of your article according to this model:

"Xin L. H., Adzis K. A. A., Hyde J., Cob Z. C., 2016 Growth performance of Acropora formosa in natural reefs and coral nurseries for reef restoration."

I need the names of the authors in this article written correctly, not examples of other articles.

I ask you to do this, because I do not want to make any mistakes regarding the names of the authors, because I am not familiar to first and last names from your country. We have had many situations in which authors contacted us after the publishing of their article to say that we have written their names wrong.

That is why I ask you to write your names and the title of the article after that model and also to double-check all the names and e-mails of authors in the manuscript, so there are no information about your personal data.

Best regards,

George Muntean

Dear George Muntean

Editor, AACL Bioflux

Good evening,

Thank you very much for your mail and so sorry, I could not catch your idea at previous mail.

Regarding on your question how to write the names of authors and the title of our article according the model which you sent to me. The way to write article that you mean is as follow;

Nofrizal, Ramdhani F., Oktavia Y., Ramses, Kurniawan R., Arimoto T., 2020. Swimming speed and heart rate of Jack Mackerel Trachurus japonicus, through electrocardiograph (ECG) monitoring in step-up swimming exercise."

I expect, my explanation can answer your question right now.

Dear Dr. Nofrizal,

Thank you for making the required modifications in the text of the manuscript.

Regarding the "How to cite:" part, I asked you to write the names of the authors and the title of your article according to this model:

"Xin L. H., Adzis K. A. A., Hyde J., Cob Z. C., 2016 Growth performance of Acropora formosa in natural reefs and coral nurseries for reef restoration."

I need the names of the authors in this article written correctly, not examples of other articles.

I ask you to do this, because I do not want to make any mistakes regarding the names of the authors, because I am not familiar to first and last names from your country. We have had many situations in which authors contacted us after the publishing of their article to say that we have written their names wrong.

That is why I ask you to write your names and the title of the article after that model and also to double-check all the names and e-mails of authors in the manuscript, so there are no information about your personal data.

Best regards,

Dear George Muntean
Editor AACL Bioflux

Thank you very much to re-read and give some comments to our manuscript.
I have rectified and modified the manuscript according to your comments.
I am sending the modification and rectification of manuscript with this mail in attachment file.
Hope, the modification and rectification have made the manuscript better and sufficient to publish Journal of AACL Bioflux.

Dear Dr. Nofrizal,

After discussing with the rest of the editorial team we have concluded that your research is still relevant, even though the data set is old. If you can tell me a precise year when this experiment took place, I will write it up in the paper. If not, we will go with it as it is.

I have attached a preview to the final form of your paper. I have to fill in only information about the issue in which it will be published. Please take a look at it and if there are any problems, please tell me. If you will accept this final form of the article, I will proceed to publish it.

Best regards,
